

CAREER ADVANCEMENT EVENT

Title: Getting "Locked In" For Your Dream Internment

Location: Hutchinson Courtyard

RSVP: editor@chicagoshadydealer.com

Time: 6:30 - 9:45 pm

Description: Come to this informative session for a crash course in getting and surviving your dream internment this summer. Listen to fourth-year economics major Jason Lee talk about using your social media presence to attract the attention of top employers including J.P. Morgan, J.P. Morgan, and other boutique investment firms. Lee will reflect on his unpaid 70 hour a week workload in a dynamic basement setting.

Fourth-year comparative literature major Fiona Newport will also be present giving advice. Newport was the 2012 Jeff Metcalf Intern in the Visual Metalworking Arts at Vogue Magazine. At Vogue, Newport spent her time hand-making artisanal license plates for nine hours a day in cramped and exciting working quarters in preparation for a 5 minute photo shoot for Annie Leibovitz.

All attendees should RSVP by Monday, April 1. Those who fail to respect their RSVP should expect immediate excommunication from the Career Advancement community and 40 hours hard labor. Attendees must turn in a two page reflection paper on the most positive aspects of the workshop.
